

13 COLORS OF THE HONDURAN RESISTANCE

U.S. Tour with author Melissa Cardoza and singer Karla Lara

NYC - May 17 @ 7 - 9pm

Church of the Village - 201 W 13th St

Join us for the national tour of two Honduran activists honoring the life of Berta Cáceres. Afro-indigenous autonomous feminist, poet and writer Melissa Cardoza and Karla Lara, a feminist who voices resistance through song and writing, will perform stories from Melissa's book 13 Colors of the Honduran Resistance about women resisting brutal repression and finding unyielding hope. A post-performance dialogue will examine parallels between current struggles in Honduras and the U.S.

"These stories of bravery, of struggle and pain, and ultimately of a resilience rooted in a love for freedom will grip your heart."

- Alicia Garza, Co-creator of the Black Lives Matter Network
