

INVITATION

What we feminists need to know about climate finance!

Women leading the way

AWID 2016

Saturday 10 September
7.50 - 8.50^{am} | Bahia 2

The Green Climate Fund's aim is to be the largest climate finance fund by 2020, mobilising and spending $100 billion USD a year on climate adaptation and mitigation projects in developing countries. The first projects are starting to be implemented in 2016.

Are you adamant about ensuring that this funding reaches communities in the frontlines of a changing climate, securing their rights to food, clean water, and a healthy low carbon environment? Even more passionate about ensuring a strong women's voice and leadership in decision making so that this money will be most effectively spent?

Then come join us for a lively discussion. We have an early time slot, but we promise the coffee will be ready and we will talk about so many strategies and practical actions for how to get engaged, that you will leave energised and ready to start the day.

Please tell us if you are coming by sending a mail to c.coltman@bothends.org

SPEAKERS

Bridget Burns Women's
Environment and Development
Organisation (WEDO), U.S.

Neni Rochaeni The
Samdhana Institute, Indonesia

Cindy Coltman
Both ENDS, The Netherlands

ORGANISED AND SUPPORTED BY:

WALLACE GLOBAL FUND

GAGGGA GLOBAL ALLIANCE FOR GREEN AND GENDER ACTION

Bridget Burns Women's Environment and Development Organisation (WEDO), U.S.

Bridget specialises in policy advocacy, research and mobilization around the linkages between gender equality, women's rights and climate change; particularly in the context of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC).

Neni Rochaeni The Samdhana Institute, Indonesia

Neni is an experienced grants manager for The Samdhana Institute. Since 2015, Neni has led the project to prepare her organization The Samdhana Institute for Green Climate Fund accreditation in order to establish a small grants fund to strengthen women's resilience to climate change. She will share her learning's and advice for others thinking about starting down this path

Cindy Coltman Both ENDS, The Netherlands

Cindy is a climate activist working for Both ENDS in climate finance and partnership development. She will introduce some of the strategies for lobby and advocacy that CSO's can engage in at country level.